Fri	12-Jun-09 Weekend Away to	Ingleton	Ingleton is on the south-western edge of the Yorkshire Dales National Park. It's a great base for exploring the limestone pavements of Ingleborough and Twisleton, the steep bluffs of Middleton Fell, and all sorts of Yorkshire limestone-inspired loveliness. And this being Yorkshire, there should be no shortage of fine pubs serving excellent ale to keep us lively in the evenings. Although this is not an official Three Peaks weekend and there certainly will be sensible walks on offer, Ingleton's a great base camp for the challenge and if anyone wants to try they are more than welcome.	C		Rob Lievesley	07903 410561
Sun	14-Jun-09	20 Places at Ingleton YHA are available for just £35, opening 26 March at the Canal House pub meet.

We'll be staying at the YHA, a Georgian Manor House, set in landscaped woodland and gardens with good links to some of the finest cliff scenery and beaches in Britain! I can promise you great coastal walks which are likely to include Land's End, St Ives and a hopefully trip to St Michael's Mount, there should be plenty for all tastes in the Cornish peninsula. There should also be plenty to do otherwise, museums, galleries, cafes, pubs etc if you should fancy a break from all the walking!! Hmm, let's not forget those wonderful Cornish Pasties and Cornish ice-cream waiting for us ... I can hardly wait!! There are 20 places booked for this weekend at a cost of £78.80 (subject to revision and approval!) for 4 nights, from Sat. 29th August - Weds. 2nd September 2009, and it will open on Thursday 28th May 2009, at the Canal House pub meet in Nottingham. Remember, book early to avoid disappointment!! Cheques payable to RA Notts Derby Group. Look forward to seeing you there!

Fri	06-Nov-09 Weekend Away	York
to	Join us for a fun-packed getaway to the ancient city of York! November is an ideal time to visit York, after the tourist hordes have left and before the Christmas shopping rush starts in earnest. This trip is intended as a city break, focusing on the myriad attractions of York itself such as the Minster, city wall walks, museums, a plethora of pubs and cool cafés. We'll be staying at York YHA in Clifton, a short stroll from the city centre and with 24 hour access for the night owls. Booking for this weekend will open at the Canal House pub meet in Nottingham on Thursday 27th August 2009 and at the Pitcher & Piano pub meet in Derby on Thursday 10th September 2009. Price to be confirmed. Watch this space as
